Style Guidelines for Book Reviews

Example of Book reviewed: G. MASPERO, Trinity and man. Gregory of Nyssa's Ad Ablabium, Brill, Leiden 2007, pp. 216. Collection or series information, if any, should be omitted if not relevant.

Footnotes should be avoided. Bibliographical references, and references of the reviewed book, go between round brackets within the text of the review. No subtitles or other divisions are admitted.

The reviewer should sign with the initial of his first name and the complete surname in small capitals, alligned right.

Also note that:

a) Quotation marks should follow these criteria: for Romance Languages (Italian, French, Spanish, Portuguese) use angle quotes «» for quotations, double quotes "" for emphasis or second level inner quotations. In English and German different styles are accepted provided that a single criterion is used.

b) To give special emphasis to a word use double quotes when you intend a particular meaning, different from the regular one (eg. 17th century's homiletics, by us considered as "baroque", actually contained...); use italics instead when you want to give particular emphasis to a term (eg. when the creative word is compared with the prophetic word...).

c) For single words in a language different from the text's one and for titles of works quoted in the text or in the notes, use italics. Do not use it for proper names, Institutions, etc. Avoid the use of bold.

d) For eventual references to the book's chapters, indicate the title between double quotes.

e) No blank spaces should be left between quotation marks and the beginning or the end of a quotation, between chapters and verses of Biblical passages, between a word and a punctuation mark, or between the word and the footnote reference number. For contributions in French insert, if possible, a blank space before the following punctuation marks : ; ! ?

f) When some text is omitted inside a quotation, use three spaced periods between square brackets [...].

g) To set off statements within a sentence, use the 'en' dash –.

h) For the books of the Sacred Scripture, use the abbreviations employed by the edition of the Catechism of the Catholic Church (1997) that corresponds to the language of the contribution. Do not use italics. If the abbreviation contains a number, join it to the name: 1Jn, 2Cor, etc. Also join chapters and verses: Mt 2,25-27, etc.
